Permissions

It is your responsibility to clear all copyright permissions for your article and pay any permissions fees.

Bioscientifica reserves the right to charge an appropriate fee for all requests to reproduce or translate works held under copyright.

Requests to reproduce your own work

Bioscientifica grants to authors the right to reproduce their work free of charge in any publication of which they are the author or editor, subject only to giving proper credit in the work to the original publication by Bioscientifica.

Therefore, authors do not need to contact Bioscientifica to request permission to reproduce their work.

Should you require formal confirmation that permission is not required to reproduce your own work, please use the Rightslink system as described in the below section. You will not be charged for this.

Obtaining permission to republish Bioscientifica content

Bioscientifica is pleased to announce our partnership with Copyright Clearance Center to meet your licensing needs.

With Copyright Clearance Center's RightsLink service it is faster and easier than ever before to secure permission from Bioscientifica titles.

Simply locate your desired content and click on Request permission within the table of contents or in the toolbox to the right of the article to open RightsLink.

- Select the way you would like to reuse the content
- Create an account if you haven't already
- Accept the terms and conditions and you're done

For questions about using the RightsLink service, please contact Customer Support, E-mail: customercare@copyright.com; Telephone 877 622 5543

Commercial reprint sales

Reprints can provide your company with a unique promotion. Reprints in our high-impact journals are a useful marketing tool to reach new customers and prospects as persuasive testimonials.

Content Ed Net is Bioscientifica's global partner for commercial reprint sales (sales@contentednet.com or visit Content Ed Net website for more information on our operations in 29 countries).
